

At Least 1380 Suspected Infected PC in Mauritius

According to ESG Malware Tracker, there are at least 1380 suspected infected computers or stations across Mauritius. Now this is just an estimate from ESG based on their data. The actual number of infected pc is in real expected to be higher than that.

The photo above shows the amount of infected stations from Mauritius. I don't know the accuracy of this tool but the number seems quite reasonable (The actual can be a bit higher than that). Normally, most computers on home pc's are regularly updated and scanned (I am assuming that we have a reasonable population who at least install and update their AV).

You can use the embed map below to further view all other estimated infected computers from other places in the world.